

THE POWER OF IDEAS

The youth in our program have been invited by Idaho Kids Count, a research and information group, to be part of group discussions to learn about how they feel their community supports them, what works and what doesn't. We'd like to know what they would do if they were President and could help support the teachers, parents, and people who help support youth. What the kids say is completely confidential and anonymous, and goes to directly to people who can help kids and families get more of what they need to succeed.

As an added bonus, the kids get a real voice in their government - years before they will be able to vote. They will learn about research, focus groups and civic participation. Being a part of the group is voluntary, although youth generally love to participate. And, there are snacks. Please see attached information and sign the permission slip for your child to be able to participate.
